60 YEARS OF PARTNERSHIP AND COMMUNITY-LED CHANGE

ALDEA and ABPD partner with rural and Indigenous communities in Guatemala to improve the health and well-being of families through integrated initiatives. For 60 years, we have worked alongside communities to support lasting, community-driven solutions that strengthen families, build local capacity, and empower communities to shape their own futures. Join us in celebrating six decades of meaningful work and the lasting change your participation helps sustain.

On this 6-day/6-night tour, you'll visit villages to experience our work firsthand, meet community members, and learn how you can drive meaningful change. You'll also discover Guatemala's natural beauty, vibrant culture, and warm hospitality. Many participants leave with stronger connections, firsthand perspective, and a renewed commitment to sustainable, community-led development.
